Other Important Dates
Monday October 15: REB applications should be submitted if conducting a user study for your final project.

Friday October 19: Each student should have discussed their potential research project with the instructor by now (either in-person or by email)
Presentations

This is a seminar class and active participation is expected during class. Students will take turns leading discussion on papers during the term.

Discussion leads will present a brief summary of the paper, prepare discussion topics/questions, and lead discussion on the paper.

The Participation mark will be based on participation in discussion and class contributions throughout the term.

Research project presentation: Each student will present their final project on the last day of class.

Attendance

Students are expected to have completed the preparatory readings, attend class, and participate in discussion.

Collaboration Policy

Discussing assignments with other students is permitted and encouraged, but the actual work presented or submitted is to be done individually unless otherwise specified on the assignment description.

If you intend to publish work completed for this class, you need to submit it for grading before collaborating with others to polish the work for publication. You cannot submit for grading work done collaboratively with others (including your supervisor).

Intellectual Property

All materials created for this course (including course notes, coding examples, lecture recordings, tutorials, assignments, assignment code bases, marking schemes, tests, exams, and test/exam solutions) remain the intellectual property of the instructor. They are intended for the personal and non-transferable use of students registered in the course. Reposting, reproduction and/or distribution of any course materials, in part or in whole, without the written consent of the instructor, is illegal and strictly prohibited.

Graduate Academic Advisor

The School of Computer Science graduate advisor can assist you with information about prerequisites and preclusions, enquiries about course substitutions/equivalencies, understanding your academic audit and remaining requirements for graduation. The advisor will also refer students to appropriate resources on campus such as the Student Academic Success Centre (SASC), Writing Tutorial Centre, Registrar’s Office, etc.
University Policies

Student Academic Integrity Policy

Every student should be familiar with the Carleton University student academic integrity policy. A student found in violation of academic integrity standards may be awarded penalties which range from a reprimand to receiving a grade of F in the course or even being expelled from the program or University. Some examples of offences are: plagiarism and unauthorized co-operation or collaboration. Information on this policy may be found in the Undergraduate Calendar.

Plagiarism

As defined by Senate, "plagiarism is presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own". Such reported offences will be reviewed by the office of the Dean.

Unauthorized Co-operation or Collaboration

Senate policy states that "to ensure fairness and equity in assessment of term work, students shall not co-operate or collaborate in the completion of an academic assignment, in whole or in part, when the instructor has indicated that the assignment is to be completed on an individual basis". Please refer to the course outline statement or the instructor concerning this issue.

Requests for Academic Accommodation

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request, the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation

Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

Religious obligation

Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist.
